

BRANSON HOMES

Making Your Dream Home Come True

Building homes of exceptional quality and uncompromising value

Branson Homes has been building quality homes for over 50 years in many of Amarillo's finest communities and the surrounding areas. We build homes for people from all walks of life, from new homebuyers, to empty nesters, to those seeking the luxurious dream home they've always wanted.

Branson has a large portfolio of sought-after home designs featuring a full range of classic architectural details on the outside, and modern-day open floor plans on the inside. Thoughtful design details maximize each square foot to fit the way you and your family live in your home each day. If you prefer, we can build your home from scratch using our state-of-the-art technology for its design. No matter the square footage or price point, we build everything to exceed your expectations.

Our company was founded by William Branson, who learned the building trade from his late father, Gerald Branson, and who has now passed the trade to his own son, Scott Branson. Scott is the job foreman who oversees the construction of each home to ensure the high standards of quality expected from all involved. We partner with some of the areas finest subcontractors, craftsmen, and vendors who take as much pride and care in their work as we do.

"We have a long-standing position in the community and a proven track record of quality-built homes."

- William Branson, Founder

Quality

When you choose Branson Homes, you will have a builder who takes the time before hand to prepare you for what is most likely the biggest investment you will make in a lifetime. You can rest assured throughout the building process that your dream home will be built exactly as you have planned it.

What makes our company unique is our special Showroom Experience. Once the preliminaries are over – you’ve chosen your community, your home plan, its square-footage, any modifications you want, you’ve settled on a budget and financing, and codes are met – the fun begins!

A trip to our easy-to-find Showroom is like having your own private studio that puts everything at your fingertips – cabinetry, countertops, appliances, carpeting, lighting, faucets, fixtures, colors, textures, styles, roofing, tile, brick – and countless other important items. We believe that with a little advanced planning on your part and ours, your building experience will be calm, enjoyable, and effective. When you are finished, we will have helped you create a home that is unmistakably yours.

Integrity

Old-fashioned work ethics

During construction someone is always available to take your calls or answer any questions you might have. We are committed to personal communication. Once your home is completed, we have a final walk-through with a punch list. Any deficiencies are taken care of right away.

Our experience, and our honest and thorough approach to home building have created an extensive list of satisfied homebuyers. If you would like to be on that list, visit our website at www.bransoncustomhomes.net, to view our homes and what we offer, or come see us in person. From the first meeting, you will know you are in the hands of a builder who takes pride in creating a home of exceptional quality and uncompromising value. A builder who believes that extraordinary homes are a result of thoughtful, effective planning.
